Extract Resources announces CEO for Swakop Uranium

– Extract Resources (“the Company”) today announced that Mr Norman Green has been appointed as Chief Executive Officer of its wholly owned subsidiary, Swakop Uranium in Namibia.

Mr Green is a graduate of the University of the Witwatersrand and is a Professional Engineer. He has considerable experience in Southern Africa where he has successfully led projects and managed the process for the commissioning of a number of mines, including the Skorpion Zinc mine and refinery project for Anglo American Base Metals in Namibia; he has also worked with Impala Platinum Limited, Assmang Limited and the Hillside Aluminium Project for Gencor, now part of BHP Billiton. Mr Green will reside in Namibia - his primary role is to build a Namibian team and with that team develop the Rossing South deposit from a world class discovery into a world class mine, capable of producing at least 15 Mlbs per annum of uranium.

Extract Chairman, Steve Galloway said today, “Norman makes a welcome return to Namibia as he takes the helm at Swakop Uranium and we are delighted to have found a CEO of this calibre. I know that he relishes the task ahead and his experience demonstrates that he is extremely capable of building the Husab mine at Rossing South. As a company, we are dedicated to making a significant contribution, not only to the world supply of uranium, but also to the Namibian economy and people”.
